A single egg clutch of B. glabrata, approximately 1 week old. The clutch contains about 40 individual embryos, each in its own compartment. Sizes of each embryo varies, depending on their individual rates of maturation.