A male adult Oncomelania hupensis snail. The apex of the snail has been anchored in children’s clay, and the headfoot is extended. Extending from the right edge of the shell opening is a flesh-colored structure (the verge).